The Carmel Pine Cone

THE OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA, CALIFORNIA

The Monterey County Fiera opened yesterday and will continue through Sunday. All fairgoers are requested to don Spanish-American apparel and come in fiesta mood.

Each evening $50 will be awarded to the wearer of a colorful Mexican costume, such as those pictured above on the two young ladies. The winner will be chosen by public acclaim.

Four professional mariachi bands add to the Mexican atmosphere of the fair as they stroll beneath ancient oaks along the grassy midway playing Mexican Music and singing serenades.

Tonight, tomorrow and on Saturday and Sunday, the mariachis will also present a free program on the Fiesta Stage of the Fiera at 5 p.m., also at 9 p.m. every night but Saturday. The Mexican costume contest takes place on the main stage each evening at 7 p.m.

A $50,000 collection of paintings by contemporary Mexican artists will be exhibited in the fine arts building and include the work of Orozco, Siquieros, Meza, Chariot, Rafael, Nishizawa, Dosamontes and Coronel.

Saturday will be Fiesta Day, when special emphasis will be placed on the dedication of the county fair, this year, "to our brothers of Mexico; to their glorious beginnings; amazing progress; gracious hospitality and, most of all, the timeless heritage they have given to the State of California, and, in particular, the City and County of Monterey," according to the proclamation issued by fair directors headed by Will Shaw of Carmel Highlands.

The fruits and vegetables for which Monterey County is famous are displayed in the agriculture building. New and distinctive paintings by county artists, both professional and amateur, (Continued on Page Two)

Feathers . . . From the Shaft

By Harry the Fletcher
No. 70

There's in each new deck a joker who must always rock the boat; while each chorus has its croaker to dispute the purest note. You can find a fly in ointments, and dissenters in each group. Seems we're full of disappointments, just like chickens in a coop.

There'll be foggy days each summer, there'll be clouds without the rain; though we're dumb there's some that's dumber. There'll be weeds among the grain. Mid a hundred happy diners there'll be one to scorn the meal. There's no way to whip the whiners or discourage pigs to squeal.

So, remember, it's the axle squeaks the loudest gets the grease, and these well-remembered facts'll help your disappointments cease.

There's a moral to this ditty which is obvious to see. If you miss it, more's the pity, for it now occurs to me — you can drive a horse to drinking, but he may refuse to quaff; but to make a man start thinking you have first to make him laugh!

Salinas Firm Low Bidder On Addition To Carmel High

The bid for an addition to Carmel High School was awarded last night and the drawing of preliminary plans for an addition to Carmel Junior High School authorized by trustees of the Carmel Unified School District.

Training of future firemen was approved as part of the curriculum at the high school and it was decided to sell five automobiles which no longer are useful to the school district.

Hampshire Construction Company of Salinas presented the lowest bid, $161,908 for the construction of a large group teaching facility at the high school. This facility may be divided into four separate classrooms by accordion doors when desired. It will be placed on the present parking lot between the music building and the administration wing.

The eight classrooms for which plans will be drawn by the architectural firm of Crans- (Continued on Page Sixteen)

Church Plans To Build Near Hatton Fields

An application is now being prepared asking for a use permit from the county for the construction of a church in the Hatton Fields area.

The Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula has selected a 4.2-acre site on which to build a church. This lies between Highway One and Mesa Drive, north of Atherton Drive and across the highway from Carmel Hills Drive.

Negotiations to purchase the land from Floyd Carter, a member of the Community Church, are under way with Colonel Arthur H. Black, property steward of the church, in charge of the transaction.

The land selected by the church congregation at a recent meeting is now zoned residential and a use permit must be obtained from the Monterey County Board of Zoning Adjustments before plans can be finalized. A church is a conforming use in this area, if a use permit is granted.

The land chosen by the congregation is a wooded knoll above Highway One and Mesa Drive. It is the hope of the membership to erect a church of distinguished architecture, matching the natural beauty of the proposed building site and in keeping with the high quality of residences in the area. The many pines, also the oaks, on the property will be retained. These will screen the buildings, also parking, and add to the beauty of the finished development.

The site plan shows the church buildings occupying eight percent of the site. The sanctuary of the church is planned to seat 300 persons. It will be joined by arcades to a Sunday school building to the east of the sanctuary. Parking for over 75 cars will be placed informally to the north among the many large trees on the property. Entrance to the church development is designated to lead off Mesa Drive. Total area of the buildings planned is 64,000 square feet.

L. J. Fletcher, chairman of the church's building fund campaign committee, this week, has been showing an aerial photograph of the site, with preliminary plans for the church superimposed on it, to residents adjacent to the church site.

The congregation of the Community Church is largely composed of persons who were formerly members of the Church of the Wayfarer. When the latter church was declared to be legally Methodist property, these persons separated from the Church of the Wayfarer to form a non-denominational community church. The Church of the Wayfarer released equitable funds to the group leaving its congregation.

Dr. Charles N. Pearson is president of the governing board of the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula. Mrs. Dudley Swim is vice president; Mrs. Walter Burde, secretary; and A. G. Mott, treasurer.

The parking will be distributed in several areas with trees between each area leading off the main entrance driveway.

Subcommittee Has Five Proposals For Cultural Center

The finance subcommittee of the Sunset Committee has prepared a report showing five ways to pay for development of a cultural and community center on the Sunset School site, also maintain it, after the school becomes city property.

The plans are (1) keep present buildings permanently; (2) keep some buildings, demolish bungalows and construct new buildings; (3) keep present buildings with the view of replacement in five years; (4) demolish all the buildings except the auditorium and build new units; (5) demolish all the present structures and rebuild.

Cost of keeping the buildings permanently (Plan 1) would entail repairs amounting to $600,000; also cost of rearranging room partitions; cost of fireproofing and special treatment for an art museum or library; cost of constructing parking facilities, $264,000-$294,000; cost of (Continued on Page Sixteen)

Subdivision North Of Rancho Rio Vista In Planning Stage

A Carmel resident is planning to subdivide 210.1 acres of land to the north of Rancho Rio Vista as an addition to this development.

He is Russell Galloway and a public hearing on the development will be held on September 29 by the Monterey County Planning Commission in Salinas.

Entrance to the acreage acquired by Mr. Galloway from James Doud and the estate of the late Corum Jackson, will be through the present entrance to Rancho Rio Vista and then to the right along Canada Drive.

Mr. Galloway says he has employed the firm of Sasaki, Walker and Lackey Associates, Inc. to aid him in planning the development. Ed Ferrell of this firm is the overall co-ordinator for the developer.

The subdivision will be for single family residences in the better price class, according to Mr. Galloway, and lots will be of good size to provide privacy.

Mr. Galloway says he wishes to disturb the area as little as possible, and is considering possible cluster development.

Roads will be built and designed in such a manner as not to scarify the hillsides in the development, he emphasizes.

He has already applied for admission to the Carmel Sanitary District for sewage disposal.

"Shop In Carmel" No Empty Slogan; Evidence Proves It Can Save Money

By Harry Fletcher

Exploding an altogether too prevalent myth, this observer has proven by research that merchandise prices in Carmel are no higher than elsewhere, and in many cases have been found to be actually lower. In one instance, personally overheard, a visitor from Portland, Oregon, entered a local store (name on request) and admired a certain sweater. She has an identical sweater, but in a different color. In the course of conversation, this visitor revealed that she had paid almost three dollars more for the same article in a popular-price department store in her home town.

Other instances are readily apparent. Locally crafted articles are very outstanding in this respect, and visitors are quick to recognize and take advantage of this fact, reflected in sales volume.

Unfortunately, there are still some local residents who persist in the delusion that the further they travel away from home, the better bargains they can obtain. Nothing could be further from the truth, especially when taking into account the cost of travel, time consumed, and sacrifice of the guarantee of satisfaction assured by local merchants.

Often overlooked, too, is the fact that by shopping in Carmel, local prosperity is enhanced which indubitably is reflected in lower local taxes, coupled with ever-increasing value of real estate. The slogan, "Buy It In Carmel" not only makes practical sense, but saves money. The merchandise is here, and often in greater abundance, variety, and in wider selection than in most out-of-town shopping centers.

"Look for it first in Carmel." It can save you money.

SUNSET COMMITTEE

Chairmen of the uses, finances and structures subcommittees, or their representatives, will meet with Frank Putnam, chairman of the Sunset Committee, to prepare the final draft of an interim report on the development of Sunset School and its site as a cultural and community center on Monday, 2 p.m., at Normandy Inn.

This Monday Mr. Putnam, Rear Admiral C. W. Fisher (USN Ret.), Dr. James Gilman and Don Marshall representing respectively, the structures, finance and uses subcommittees, also Robert Stanton, began preparation of the interim report which will be presented to the city council on September 15. The entire Sunset Committee will vote on the report's recommendations, at a date not as yet set before the report is given to the council.

Since July 1, the 30 members of the Sunset Committee, appointed by Mayor Herbert Blanks, have been studying development of the Sunset property. Voters approved the purchase of the school from the Carmel Unified School District on April 14, also a $575,000 bond issue to finance the transaction.

Revenue from the three percent hostelry tax will be used to pay off the city's bonded indebtedness.

bit prints at the fair.

The work of professional and amateur craftsmen is shown in the crafts building. Cut flowers and floral arrangements with special themes are to be seen in the floriculture buildings. Outside of this building are "gardens within a garden."

Culinary creations, also exhibits of other homemaking skills are exhibited in the home economics building. Just behind this the county's 4-H clubs have booths depicting their activities.

In the oak-studded area at the east end of the fairgrounds livestock are housed and shown. State Senator Fred Farr of Carmel and Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee of Corral de Tierra will help sell animals at the junior livestock auction on Saturday at 10 a.m.

Once again, the most notable horses in the United States, along with their owners and riders, are seen in the National

Rancho Rio Vista Property Owners Ask For Hydrants

The request of Rancho Rio Vista Property Owners Association for a county service area to provide for a light at the entrance to the subdivision off Carmel Valley Road, also 14 hydrants, was referred to the county counsel at the meeting of the Monterey County Board of Supervisors on Monday.

The property owners group asked for the lighting because of increased use of the entrance due to more homes being built in Rancho Rio Vista, also because a proposed 210.1-acre subdivision, north of Rancho Rio Vista, would use the same entrance to gain access to the proposed development along Canada Way.

The request for the installation of hydrants was made because, at present, there are only two public hydrants in Rancho Rio Vista, and one of these is substandard. Some private hydrants are maintained by homeowners in the area at their own expense on their own property, however.

The proposed public hydrants would be installed by California Water Co. in 14 locations and the State Forestry fire station on Carmel Hill would continue to provide fire fighting protection to Rancho Rio Vista using these hydrants.

Cost of establishing the county service area for added fire protection would be financed by a special tax amounting to $1 per $1,000 property valuation it is estimated. There are 80 homes now in the Rancho Rio Vista area.

Carmel Author Pens New Psychology Book

GAMES PEOPLE PLAY, by Eric Berne, M.D. Grove Press, 1964. The Wells Book Stores, Carmel. $5.00.

As a stimulating treatise on the psychology of human relationships, here is a book which is "must" reading for the intelligent layman who is in daily contact with people—teachers, doctors, lawyers, salesmen, professional technicians, personnel managers, politicians, advertisers.

Horse Show in the arena each evening at 7:45 p.m., also at 1:30 p.m. Both Eastern and Western riding are featured, also team roping.

Along the midway and in the large Exhibition Hall, commercial exhibits are situated. The carnival, in pitched tents, lures young and old to try their skills or ride merry-go-rounds, ferris wheels and hair-raising rides. Intriguing exhibits of wide variety all along the midway attract fairgoers.

There are hootenannies, folk dancing, amateur and professional stage shows, all free. Food and drink is served in booths manned by service clubs, also in the Hunt Club.

Gates open at 9 a.m. and close at 11 p.m. each day except Sunday when the fair will end at 10 p.m. The price of admission is $1.00 for adults; 50 cents for children (7-14), also servicemen. General admission to the horse show is an additional 75c for adults and 25c for children. Box seats are $1.50.

publicists, writers, and in fact anybody who has anything to do with anybody else.

Written in clear, simple, witty language, in "Games People Play" Dr. Berne has introduced an entirely new, unified system of individual and social psychiatry, showing how people can achieve a new awareness of themselves and others by analyzing their behavior in terms of "games."

The term, "games," has nothing to do with entertainment, as such, but points up the interplay between individuals which follows definite, recognizable patterns, divided into seven categories: Life Games, Marital Games, Party Games, Sexual Games, Underworld Games, Consulting Room Games, and Good Games.

Nothing is here related to the Freud or Jung theories of psycho-analysis, but is in very fact an instant and practical method of evaluating any form of human relationship, without the necessity of research or study in depth. Highly entertaining and immediately applicable to everyday life.

Dr. Eric Berne was formerly a Consultant in Psychiatry to the Surgeon General, U.S. Army, and is now lecturer at the University of California Medical School and Chairman of the San Francisco Social Psychiatry Seminar. He makes his home in Carmel.

I'm the nut that got away from the squirrels, at least so far, but it's a precarious existence dodging the bushy-tails.

As I do it I manage to see quite a bit of what's going on about town. Sometimes fleeing through the forest I even get as far away as Monterey and Pacific Grove.

I have a lot of trouble getting to Big Sur and Carmel Valley, however, because being a pine nut, I'm wary about getting too far away from the kind of trees in which I first saw the world. Oaks and redwoods just aren't my kind of trees, really.

Carmel Highlands is fine, once I get there, it's still piney and Don Doner knows lots of interesting people.

But home is where I started, in a pine cone in Carmel. They tell me things have changed a lot around here but Carmel still offers me the most of everything... including tourists.

And that leads me into a bit of information I picked up in a local restaurant on Sunday.

Some men in skirts beating on drums and blowing into pipes had just finished making some odd sounds, to me, on Ocean Avenue. They followed a man wearing a sort of super beetle wig. Hundreds of people marched behind this crew so I got out of the way and into the restaurant.

A lady was explaining to another lady what all the excitement was.

"They're the Highlanders," she said.

"Are they local people?" her companion asked.

"Oh yes!" said the first lady, "they live in Carmel Highlands."

Next time I get out that way maybe I'll find out where this gang hangs out.

By the way, I found a bit of farmland on Ocean Avenue the same afternoon. Bill Smith stood out on the sidewalk in front of his grocery store talking to someone. I didn't hear what they were saying because I was so intrigued by the tomato plant flourishing at his feet in a hole in the sidewalk. It's flowering and if the fine weather we've been having all this month Kip's up, there should be a rosy crop in a month or so.

One of the most intriguing discoveries I've made dodging around town is about two-way windows; the kind that a person inside can see out of, but a person outside can't see into. There's a Carmel hostelry where this kind of window is used in the bathrooms... only somehow or other the glass was installed wrong way around in part of the building. I investigate this situation thoroughly, and frequently, at certain times. I find silhouettes fascinating.

APXITEKTONIKH is the name of a new magazine I discovered in the library. It is donated for Carmelites to read and I think Dr. Fred Farley should appreciate it most of all, even if most of the text is in modern Greek. It deals with architecture, archeology, fine and applied arts, interiors and design in Greece. Fortunately, there is an insert with English translations of some of the text so I was able to garner the following:

"The creation of a cultural center in Athens has once again emphasized the complete lack of any similar facilities. Unfortunately, building has been carried out in a most haphazard fashion, and the free sites, which could have afforded land for such projects, no longer exist."

Who would have thought that Athens and Carmel face the same problem?

It appears Carmel and Athens have come to a similar conclusion, only Athens is a little ahead of Carmel and has its cultural center built and no land left for any other such development.

Wouldn't it be fine if all 30 members of the Sunset Committee could charter a plane and fly to Athens and see just how plans for its cultural center were developed?

However, it occurs to me, Johann Sebastian Bat has been missing from Sunset auditorium the past year or so. Maybe he decided to wing his way to Athens and look over its cultural center. Could be that Frank Putnam will get word from Johann on just how he'd like his old home developed and the Sunset Committee could get behind the bat.

Carmel isn't going to be quite the same ever again after Saturday. That's the day that Roy Wood will drive the Bay Rapid Transit bus around Carmel for the last time, because he's retiring.

For the past decade or so he's been a cheery friend to everyone that rides his conveyance. All the friends he's made over all these years are going to miss him and I overheard some of them talking about tomorrow morning and the library corner. I'll be hanging around to see what happens!

Sunday night all his co-workers at the Monterey bus office gave him a going-away party. He's moving to Auburn after he stops work.

Accolades and all that to the county road department for cutting out those saplings and clumps of brush which obstructed the view going around a curve on the Pacific Grove cut-off. But they overlooked that 30-mile warning sign coming up the hill from P.G. It's just before that sharp "S" turn and it's partly obscured by a tall weed. Dangerous it is a motorist told me.

FOREST THEATER PROGRAM

Directed by Nancy Ness Bowman, the Opera Workshop will present excerpts from "La Traviata," "Rigoletto," and Broadway musicals, under the sponsorship of the Carmel Arts Commission, in the Forest Theater on Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m.

Established in 1959, to train young singers, and to instill in students a love of opera, the Opera Workshop has provided soloists for the Monterey County Symphony, and many local musical productions, as well as launching talented performers into professional careers.

Among those who will be heard on Sunday are Lucy Bowman and Tita Gascon of Carmel; Charlotte and Ann Penoyer of Pebble Beach; Midge and Jo Messenjo and Colonel Mare-decal of Pacific Grove. Also, Joan Canada, Nina and Vince Russo, and Louise Davenport of Monterey; Charlotte Roger and Nancy Hurdle of Salinas; Captain Clayberg and Will Rogers of Fort Ord, and Helen Wheeler of Marina.

Pianist Oleata will be accompanist.

The concert will be offered, free to the public. It is the sixth in a series of Sunday afternoon programs to be presented by the Carmel Arts Commission this summer.

FIRE LAST NIGHT

Fire, presumably caused by the pet dog dragging a rug across the living room floor furnace, caused $1,000 property damage and an estimated $400 household furniture damage, in the home of J. C. Hall at Casanova and Ninth last night.

The alarm was put in by neighbors at 8:21 p.m. The Carmel Volunteer Fire Department responded with two pieces of equipment. Upon arrival it was found that the blaze in the living room was controlled. A smoke ejector was used to clear the house; the burning rug removed, the furnace, described by the fire fighters as "sizzling" was cooled.

AMBULANCE CALL

The Carmel Volunteer Fire Department responded to an emergency call for the Red Cross ambulance at 2:40 p.m. yesterday. The call was made from the home of G. Walter LaBorie at Camino del Monte and Serra, where Miss Zeffie Brown, the LaBorie housekeeper for the past 32 years, had suffered what was presumed to be a heart attack. The ambulance crew administered resuscitation but Miss Brown remained unconscious and was taken by ambulance to Community Hospital where she was reported on the critical list this morning.

PLANNERS CONSIDER RESIDENCE ZONE SIGNS

Sign regulation in the residence district occupied the Carmel Planning Commission yesterday afternoon. City attorney John Morse reported to commissioners on new sign controls for this area to be included in an ordinance.

Churches, private kindergartens and private schools situated in the residence zone will be required to obtain a use permit for signs. On a building site, total area of signs cannot be larger than six square feet and no contractor, subcontractor or architect can exhibit signs, either singly, or in combination, larger than this size.

Size of home occupation signs is set at two square feet and in a combination of home and occupation only 96 square inches for the occupation.

A favorable report of the land use subcommittee on a 12-space parking lot for the planned Wells-Fargo bank building at San Carlos and Ocean was approved. A resolution to this effect will be voted upon on September 16. Olof Dahlstrand is the bank's architect. The wall facing the parking lot will have walk-up windows.

BUILDING DAMAGED

Property owned by Herbert Vial was damaged last night as the result of a collision between two automobiles at the intersection of Torres and Fifth streets.

A station wagon driven by Lilli Helene Olden collided with a sedan whose driver was John Barr Mayes. The Olden vehicle, following the collision, continued through the intersection to hit the Vial property and damaged garage doors, a stone wall and a heater pipe.

Sobieske Fabrics Win Awards

Winning awards for design of silk screen fabrics is becoming an annual occurrence for Don Sobieske, one of the regular exhibitors of arts and crafts at the Big Sur Bazaar. Currently on display is a number of Mr. Sobieske's handsomely designed materials, some of cotton, others of linen or silk. When the California State Fair opens in Sacramento on September 2, visitors will find in the Hand Blocked Textile Design Division, three of Sobieske's fabrics—a first, second and third prize winner. The first prize winner is a cotton fabric, with an arresting candelabra design done on a scarlet red background. The design has been worked in blue and violet yarns. It becomes the property of the State Fair and will be added to its tremendous collection of the arts and crafts of California artists. These properties are used for lending to schools, galleries, etc., as fine examples of what is produced through the years.

Representative pieces of artist Sobieske's works are also currently on display at the Western Craftsman Exhibition in Seattle, Washington. Sobieske is now working on designs he will enter in the California Craftsman Exhibition to be held in Pasadena next spring.

Although widely recognized for his award winning textile designs, Don Sobieske does not confine his artistic endeavors only to this media. A visit to the Big Sur Bazaar will reveal a fine collection of pottery bowls, plates, trays, compotes, turned by this versatile individual. Added this past week are several beautiful pieces, some of which have come directly from an exhibit at the Alameda County Fair, where Mr. Sobieske had nine entries and won nine awards, which seems a splendid average.

Don Sobieske thinks and speaks of Big Sur as his second home for he spends as much time as possible in this region he so enjoys and appreciates. Home, however, is in Hayward, where he teaches classes in art, design, color and history of art. His formal education was received at the University of Iowa and Stanford University, and summer vacation periods will usually find him studying art, music or choreography at a university or art school in the country. On a recent sabbatical leave, Mr. Sobieske lived in the Middle East and Europe. It was during this period that he visited a small island off the coast of Spain. He found it so enchanting that he lingered there long enough to produce a dition to the silk screened fabrics (which are in three-yard lengths), pottery, bonsai trees, knitted pieces such as sweaters, ponchos, baby garments, selected pieces of driftwood, shells, candles, hand-designed greeting cards, wood carvings, etc.

SANDPIPER PREPARATIONS

Rumors are flying fast and furiously now that Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer motion pictures personnel and equipment are on the Sur Coast making final preparations for the filming of The Sandpiper starring Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton. Rumor has it that "shots" may be made at Pfeiffer Falls within Pfeiffer State Park, perhaps some at Julia Pfeiffer Burns State Park, further down the coast, some at Nepenthe, and so on. But one thing is a certainty, "the shack" which figures prominently in the film as the home of artist, Elizabeth Taylor, is nearing completion below the rugged coastal cliffs midway between Malpaso and Granite Creeks, at Soberanes Point, a few miles south of Carmel.

For almost two years M-G-M representatives, including Martin

Ransohoff, the film's producer, and others have made frequent visits to various coastal areas. Up until a few weeks ago, when actual set construction was begun, it was thought by many that the major portion of the film would be made in Sycamore Canyon, Big Sur.

Filming of The Sandpiper will begin on September 7 and continue through the month.

A Visit With Dr. Paul Michael, Pathologist, Author And Artist

by Carolyn Elstob

Miles of typewriter ribbon and many years ago, when I was a fledgling feature writer on the Boston (Mass.) Herald, I was assigned to interview the illustrious philosopher Alfred Whitehead, at that time a guest professor at Harvard University. My knowledge of the higher realms of philosophy and Professor Whitehead's theories was just plain zero and I was terrified. All the way to his home in Cambridge I muttered all my three-syllable words — What would I ask him?

It was tea time. The great educator welcomed me with a warm hand clasp. He wasn't alone and I was introduced to his guest, Bertrand Russell! Icicles clogged my veins when he said, "Bertie, help me, this young person wants to probe into my secret life!"

Well, we talked, or rather those two did... about Gilbert and Sullivan... Bertie's aversion to sea travel, and best of all, the professor's "growing up."

That interview in print won me promotion and pay. Best of all it cured me (or almost) of becoming a complete numb-brain in the presence of intellectual greats. It proved, for me at least, Alfred, Lord Tennyson's lines, "As the greatest only are, in simplicity sublime."

Several days ago I drove down to Carmel Point to interview Paul P. E. Michael, M.D., pathologist, author, etcher and painter, whose avocations are botany and collecting of antiques, particularly oriental rugs.

The path led through a magnificent garden where the profusion of flowers, the whispering whirr of humming birds' wings and the beat of the nearby surf seemed to cast a spell of tranquility. Mrs. Michael welcomed me into the great white house and left me in a drawing room.

Here were oriental rugs, five of them, irregular in size, their exquisite colorings a perfect background for the widely-spaced period furniture. On the several low tables, close by great easy chairs and sofas, there were dozens of magazines and books, and bowls of flowers. Over the great fireplace hung a portrait of two little boys, the Michaels' sons.

The enormous picture window looked out upon the sea. Orderliness and taste and dignity were the descriptive words that oc-of intimate involvement with the subject as pathologist to a major children's hospital. Drawing upon his massive fund of case history data, Dr. Michael combined it with extensive material, collected on a state-wide scale by the Tumor Tissue Registry of the Cancer Commission of the California Medical Association, to frame his book.

In today's world, with the fight against cancer given headlines, Dr. Michael's book, while primarily for professional reference, has a startling message for all thoughtful adults.

"The cancer mortality rate of adults with cancer is no longer news," Dr. Michael said, "but, unfortunately, few outside the ranks of medical specialists realize that cancer (and tumors that become cancers), is the number two cause of death, in the case of children."

I later learned from Carmel book seller, Sam Colburn, that Dr. Michael's book concerned with this subject and published by J.B. Lippincott is, indeed, in great demand.

The son of Kentucky-born Dr. Luther Michael, Dr. Paul Michael was born in Southern California where his father practiced medicine for 60 years. The senior Michael's closest friend was Luther Burbank and it was inevitable that Paul should, in his boyhood days, acquire knowledge and love of plant life through association with the great botanist.

Following premedical education at the University of California, Paul, firm in his ambition to follow his father's profession, went on to McGill University Medical School where, in 1928, he was awarded, cum laude, the degrees of B.Sc., M.D., C.M. In the same year the young doctor was honored with the Joseph Morley Drake prize in Pathology.

Postgraduate training at the Highland-Alameda County Hospital, also the University of California, led to his appointment as senior resident in pathology, University of California Hospital, in 1930. Indefatigable, the young man also took on the arduous duties of clinical instructor in pathology at the university, 1930-1959, and in the latter year became associate clinical professor in pathology at U.C.

During the years of World War II, Dr. Michael was on active duty, U.S. Naval Reserve Medical Corps. As a commander in the Navy, he was appointed chief of laboratory service at the naval hospital in Oakland and Carmel's Mayor Herbert B. Blanks recently received his silver oak leaves as a lieutenant colonel in the U.S. Army Reserve from his commanding officer, Lt. Col. Harold A. Hyde of Watsonville. Mr. Blanks entered the Army in 1942 and took part in the Eighth Army's campaigns in New Guinea, Leyte and Mindanao. In 1946 he joined the Monterey Peninsula's U.S. Army Reserve unit, 6211 USAG at Fort Ord and has been an active member of the unit ever since. He has served as plans and training officer, management officer, budget officer, comptroller, inspector general and most recently as S-4 (Supply) officer of the unit.

Youth Center Seeks Donations To Run Teen-Age Facility

Members of the Carmel Youth Center are mailing letters to all persons who donated funds for operating the teen-age community recreation facility last year. The letters are part of the center's annual appeal for budget assistance.

Donations to aid the operation of the center, which is used by over 700 young people from all parts of the Carmel Unified School District, will be greatly appreciated from persons other than the recipients of the letters.

Money received by the center from the Crosby Youth Fund is reserved for capital outlay expenditures only. None of this support may be used for operation of the youth center. However, the Crosby Youth Fund has just purchased a fourth Bingmobile to help youth center members raise funds, themselves, to operate their facility.

By their own initiative, Carmel Youth Center boys and girls raise operating funds by serving food from Bingmobile trailers. They have earned the concession rights to use the trailers at all major events at Pebble Beach, also at other Peninsula activities. The earnings from these concessions materially aid the budget problem, but additional help is needed from the citizens of Carmel and the adjacent areas, Mrs. Karen Hicks, president of the Carmel Youth Center adult board of directors, says.

In addition to the food sales, youth center members also raise funds, themselves, through special work projects, dues and admission fees.

Following their fund appeal, members of the Youth Center will hold open house on September 11 for all residents of the community.

In addition to Mrs. Hicks, members of the adult board are G. R. Bartlett, vice-president; William J. Brady, secretary treasurer; Mayor Herbert Blanks; Dr. James Gilman, Mrs. Thomas G. Duncan, Mrs. Eva Belangee, Allan Cook, Walter Pilot, James Kelsey, Ivan Tweedie, George Mosolf, P. A. McCreery. The late Allen Knight was also a member of this board. Honorary members are Frederick Godwin, J. O. Handley and James C. Buffington.

Youth center members on the youth council board are Scott Hennessy, president; Toshia Seeders, vice-president; Pamela Baldwin, secretary; Roger Ellis, treasurer; Marianne Seaver, historian; Kathy Guy, activities chairman; and Nancy Miller, Kim Roberts and Howdy King, sergeants at arms.

All contributions to the youth center are tax deductible.

Authors Coming To Lecture At MPC Starting October 22

A full program of lectures and films has been planned for the fall semester at Monterey Peninsula College, according to John G. Schaub, MPC evening division dean.

Opening the Evening Lecture Series on October 22, will be Eric Fromm, psychologist-psychanalyst author of "The Art of Loving." Dr. Fromm will speak on "The Psychological and Spiritual Problems of Affluence."

Harry S. Ashmore, editor of the Little Rock, Arkansas Gazette at the time of the first integration crisis, will visit the local campus October 26-30 as "lecturer in residence," lecturing in the Armory on his final evening on "Problems of the Public Dialogue."

Harry Golden, newspaperman author of such best-sellers as "Only in America" and "For Two Cents Plain," will address an Armory audience November 20.

Vance Packard, author of "The Status Seekers," "The Hidden Persuaders," "The Naked Society" and other books on "popular" sociology, is due to speak at MPC January 15.

The MPC Theater Arts Group has planned one film monthly for the fall semester, with each to run twice in an evening—at 7 and 9 p.m.—in the college music hall.

petition in this event will be on Saturday and Sunday.

A Visit With Dr. Paul Michael

One of the renowned specialist's proudest possessions is the signature of Secretary of the Navy Forrestal on the certificate awarding him the Commendation Ribbon for his outstanding war service.

Through the years, since 1934, Dr. Michael has acted as consultant in pathology to six Northern California hospitals, including three U.S. Naval hospitals. Named as No. 1 Licentiate, California Board of Medical Examiners in 1928; Diplomate, American Board of Pathology in 1937; and a Founding Fellow, College of American Pathologists, Dr. Michael's influence and unceasingly increasing knowledge and activity in his field would take many columns of newsprint to summarize.

And with it all, this unassuming dark-haired man who, with his family chose Carmel for his home about four years ago where he became chief of pathology at Monterey Peninsula Hospital, finds time to give many hours to painting and etching.

In his booklined study, Dr. Michael pointed to a group of exquisitely detailed etchings. They were seascapes on zinc and copper. And there were paintings, too, quite different in character and feeling, landscapes rich in color and atmosphere.

Dr. Michael and his wife, the former Virginia Bennett, born on the island of Corregidor, made close pals of their two sons, during the boys' early youth. Peter is now a U.S. Navy jet pilot and Paul a senior at Chico State College.

Precious souvenirs of family fun and Dr. Michael's versatile genius, are the Michaels' Christmas cards, his creations, coveted by hosts of friends.

Each annual card, actually a brochure, has a theme, reflecting the Michael family project of the year. The illustrations, amusing pen drawings and photographs and the accompanying "story" are Dr. Michael's work.

World-renowned, dedicated to his profession, pathologist, author, teacher, artist, collector... friendly hospitable... Dr. Paul P. E. Michael is most assuredly among the "great" endowed with the grace of simplicity.

Joan Baez Returns Home To Sing At Fairgrounds Sept. 5

Joan Baez, immensely popular folk-singer and guitarist whose concerts have jammed Carnegie Hall, Lincoln Center, and the Hollywood Bowl, will give a benefit concert on the Monterey Peninsula the evening of September 5.

The Labor Day weekend concert, which will be given to benefit Pioneer House, a new interracial Seaside nursery school, will be held at the Monterey County Fairgrounds arena.

Pioneer House is a non-profit nursery school which opened in May in the Youth Center in Seaside. Primarily educational in nature, it prepares for school children of three and four who are handicapped, not by their intellect, but by their environment.

Miss Baez, a resident of the Peninsula who is building a new home in the Carmel Valley, will return from a concert tour in the East to give the September 5 concert. She is noted for her generosity, and Pioneer House is only one of many worthwhile projects for which she has given benefit concerts.

The daughter of Dr. Albert Baez, a UNESCO physicist who lives in Paris, Joan Baez grew up in a university atmosphere. Before going to Europe, her father was a professor at Stanford University, Redlands University and colleges in the East.

It was while living in Cambridge, Massachusetts, that Miss Baez first won acclaim for the exceptional quality of her folk-singing. This acclaim swelled almost immediately to national proportions.

She is now this country's best-known and most highly regarded folk-singer. The hushed attention given at her concerts by tens of thousands of persons attest the quality and sensitivity of her artistry.

Tickets for her local concert may be obtained at Central Box Office.

KIWANIS SPEAKER

Paul Halvonik, administrative assistant to Senator Fred Farr, spoke before the Carmel Kiwanis at Thursday's luncheon meeting. His subject was Proposition 14, which Senator Farr opposes.

Florence Hart

Mrs. Florence Stetson Hart, for many years a resident of the Monterey Peninsula and a recent resident of Carmel, died on August 18, following a brief illness. Born in Sioux City, Iowa, she was 78 years of age.

Mrs. Hart is survived by her husband, Ernest B. Hart, and a daughter, Mrs. George Nelson, both of Carmel. She also leaves a son, Emmott Hazard of Lodi; a nephew, George S. Paddleford of Palo Alto; and five grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on Thursday, August 20, in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, with Reverend Frank G. Plasted, former pastor of the Church of the Good Shepherd of Corral de Tierra, officiating. Burial took place in Pasadena.

The Paul Mortuary was in charge of local arrangements.

In Appreciation Of Allen Knight

by Donald M. Craig

It does not seem possible that Allen Knight has left us; like everyone else, I assumed that he would always be here to turn to when we needed him, doing more than his share and never letting us know it.

You remember Allen: stocky, broadchested and as heavy-shouldered as a wrestler, his voice carrying a smile and his blue eyes twinkling behind the thick glasses. To look at him, he seemed a typical American businessman: hearty, busy, efficient, civic-minded, rather serious. He had a talent for getting things done. I can hear him yet, saying with a broad grin, "Stuck again!", when the mayor of Carmel or the president of the Monterey History and Art Association or the president of the Navy League or any other group asked, "Will you head this committee, Allen? You did such a fine job last time."

He never shirked a call and he never failed to carry through. He must have been discouraged and disappointed sometimes, but I never heard him complain or criticize or blame someone else. You could trust Allen; he would not let you down.

Allen may have looked a typical businessman, but there was another side to him. Did you ever hear him play a honky-tonk piano, rolling out the beat until you couldn't keep your foot still? He played by ear and he knew hundreds of tunes. When he was a young sailor before the mast and stranded in Nagasaki after the first world war, he earned enough money hammering out music in the tough waterfront cafes to get passage home. He could sing, too, and dance a bit. He clowning with the best of them at the First Theatre in Monterey and later, at the Forest Theater, do you remember him paired with Ruth McElroy in that musical farce "Pine No More," written by two Carmel boys, Mike Monaghan and Owen Greenan?

Most Carmelites know that Allen served for over ten years on the city council, two of them as mayor and the other eight as police commissioner in that crucial post-war boom period when Carmel could have lost her identity. He was the man who recommended that Clyde Klaumann be appointed chief of police because he knew that Carmel needed a special kind of law enforcement head. He also helped to re-establish the Carmel Planning Commission and supported it loyally. As a boy he had known Carmel, tree to tree, gully to sandunes and he stood staunchly for its individuality. Perhaps he didn't make so much noise as the rest of us; that wasn't his way. He believed that men were good and that right would win out, but if a decision had to be made, he made it in Carmel's interest. Carmel owes a good deal to Allen Knight. His business office was in Monterey, but his home and his heart were in Carmel.

The three Knight children went through the Carmel schools and their home here and the hillside ranch up the Carmel Valley were gathering places for all their friends. Allen swam and played strenuously with them. He was a warm and generous host. How many lonely, sad or discouraged people have he and Adele made welcome at their ranch and given time to adjust and gain courage.

He loved the sea. From the windows of his home he could see the whole seascape from Point Lobos to Pebble Beach and hear the voice of the surf. He never abandoned the sea terms: the floor was always "the deck"; he did not back up the car, he "went astern." In his museum-study, "The Ship," adjacent to his home, he could enter the atmosphere of a sea-going vessel simply by opening the watertight iron door and stepping inside onto the caulked planks of the deck. "The Ship" he had constructed of timbers salvaged from ships wrecked along the coast of the Monterey Peninsula. The solid furniture, built to hold firm in heavy weather, came from bygone sailing ships. Hanging from the bulkheads are nameboards, figureheads, life preservers and other pieces of wreckage, and on shelves and tables ship models jostle books, charts, and mementos. Here Allen spent happy hours in research on his enormous collection of sea lore, especially the unique and irreplaceable albums of photographs of old sailing ships and steamers.

I am glad that in the last few years he had the joy of being at sea again, to hear the bell strike the watches, to feel the slow surge of the water, to see the sun rise and set in glory on the horizon. Somehow, it seems fitting that he planned on another voyage soon. It is easier for us now to think of Allen as a joyous sea-farer upon that new and swelling tide standing on the bridge with eager eyes straining ahead to see a sunrise more glorious even than those of the tropics that he knew.

Editor's Note:

Allen Knight died in San Francisco on Monday in a sanitarium where he had been under treatment since last Friday. Donald Craig, his friend for many years, has written the tribute, above, to one of Carmel's beloved residents.

In addition to the many activities mentioned by Mr. Craig, Allen Knight was a member of the board of directors of the Carmel Youth Center at the time of his death.

He was born in San Francisco in 1901 but spent most of his early life in Carmel.

In addition to his wife, Adele, he leaves a son, Allen Knight Jr., and two daughters, Mrs. Allene Knight Weiner of Carmel and Mrs. Kenneth Bliesner of Spokane, Washington; also four grandchildren.

Private family services were held today in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea with inurnment to follow in Mission Memorial Park.

Those wishing to honor Allen Knight's memory may do so in the form of donations to the Monterey USO.

First Mensa Meeting

An informal meeting of Mensa, the high-I.Q. society, will be held at the home of Susan Betz Hoskin in Carmel tomorrow at 8:00 p.m. Anyone interested in Mensa, and who would like to attend the meeting, may call Mrs. Hoskin at 624-5796. The Mensa Society is international. Anyone who qualifies in the upper two percent of the population is eligible for membership. This will be the first meeting of the newly-organized local chapter.

Bon Voyage Party

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Burkett of Pebble Beach were guests of honor at a bon voyage dinner dance at Del Monte Lodge this past weekend. The party was given by Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Ewig. The guests, all banking associates of Mr. Burkett, were Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Handley, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hurd, Dr. and Mrs. Clyn Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Ewig.

The festive table was decorated with a golden ship centerpiece and other items of a nautical nature. Mr. and Mrs. Burkett are leaving shortly for a European tour.

Town House Program

Artist Pat Cunningham will be the speaker at the Wednesday meeting and tea at Carmel Foundation Town House. Mrs. Cunningham will discuss the technique of painting flowers and still life. The occasion highlights the opening of the foundation's show of flower paintings done by Carmel senior citizens.

The Wednesday afternoon lecture and tea is open to the interested public, who may also view the show through the month of September.

In a beautiful ceremony in the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School Chapel, JoAnn Kinion, the daughter of Commander and Mrs. A. J. Kinion of Carmel, and the Theodore Harris Davis, the son of Mrs. Arthur Davis and the late Dr. Harris Davis of Powder Springs, Georgia, were joined in matrimony by the Reverend Thomas J. Burke last Saturday afternoon at 1:30 p.m.

In a trained gown of white satin, topped with a fingertip-sleeved jacket of alencon lace, her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion net held by a Dior bow, JoAnn was given in marriage by her father. She carried a bouquet of white roses and orchids.

Four sisters of the bride were included in the procession of the bride's attendants. Judith Kinion was her sister's maid of honor, with Jeraldine Kinion and Kathleen McPharlan, senior bridesmaids. The three wore floor-length pink linen sheaths with white lace jackets and matching hair bows. They carried long-stemmed pink roses tied with white satin ribbon.

Junior bridesmaid, Janice Kinion, wore a floor-length pink linen empire-waisted sheath sashed with satin ribbon. She also carried a sheath of pink roses.

The flower girl, Jae-Theresa Kinion, was clad in an A-line floor-length frock of pink linen. The nosegay she carried was of pink rosebuds.

The tiny ringbearer was the bride's brother, Timothy Kinion.

As "the something old," the bride wore a string of pearls lent her by Mrs. Theodore Bogart. A gift of the Dominican Sisters of Santa Catalina School for Girls, from which the bride graduated, was a rosary, which JoAnn carried throughout the ceremony.

Meeting his bride at the altar, Theodore was attended by Jack Duncan who traveled from Texas for the occasion to be best man.

Ushers were Donald Edwards of Novato and Kurt Kuhns of St. Petersburg, Florida.

For her daughter's marriage, Mrs. Kinion wore a turquoise blue ensemble, with a matching hat and corsage of white roses.

The wedding reception was held in the Presidio of Monterey Officers Club. White roses formed the massed centerpiece decorating the refreshment table.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis cut their wedding cake with a silver cake server, a wedding gift from the bride's granduncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McGettrick of Attleboro, Massachusetts.

For travel, JoAnn chose a white mohair sheath with green leather accessories. The newly wed couple are honeymooning at Jekel Island, Georgia. They will make their home in Cambridge, Massachusetts, where Theodore is a graduate student in Harvard University School of Business.

Caufields Honored

Brigadier General Frank J. Caufield, (USA Ret.) and Mrs. Caufield of Hatton Fields have been honored at several parties marking the general's retirement. Until recently he was Fort Ord's deputy commanding general.

Mrs. Caufield was guest of honor at a tea given by the Officers Wives Club, also at a luncheon given by the Command and Staff Wives of Fort Ord. Major General and Mrs. Edwin

H. J. Carnes gave a dinner party honoring the Caufields. A dinner dance, attended by 200 guests, honored the Caufields at the Fort Ord Officers Club and the Caufields' neighbors, Colonel and Mrs. Malcolm C. Stratton, also entertained for them.

Immediately following the retirement parade for General Caufield at Fort Ord, he and Mrs. Caufield gave a reception in the Presidio Officers club. Present were General Caufield's parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. Gus Lallande, who flew from San Juan, Puerto Rico, for the retirement ceremonies.

Adventure To Mexico

Ralph and Joan Thompson, with their children, started off by car early Saturday morning for a tour of Southern California, Baja California and Mexico. They planned to avoid the "usual" and see off-the-beaten-highway native hamlets, also taste culinary wonders. The family plan to be back in Carmel on Sunday.

Marriage in Cooperstown

Patricia Anne Leary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Leary of Cooperstown, New York, will be married on Saturday to Grant Charles Leschin, son of Mrs. Thornton Fry of Carmel and the late Samuel Leschin.

Miss Leary attended Marymount International School in Kingston Hill, Surrey, and the Royal Holloway College of London University and is a graduate of Marymount College in Tarrytown, New York. At present she is a copywriter for Sports Illustrated.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Amherst College and Yale University Law School now employed with International Business Machines. Following their marriage, the couple will live in New York.

All Saints' Vacations

The Reverend David Hill, rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church, and his family are vacationing high in the Sierras at Huntington Lake.

Mrs. Harriet Meyer, church secretary, is vacationing in Los Gatos where her many friends have planned seven parties for the seven nights of her visit.

At Three-Day Convention

William Lange of Carmel will supervise a mass baptism of new ministers on Saturday afternoon during a three-day circuit convention of Jehovah's Witnesses in Paso Robles.

Named UC Officer

John K. Mortenson of Carmel Valley has been named personnel officer at the University of California, Santa Cruz, according to an announcement made by Chancellor Dean E. McHenry. He will join the UCSC staff on September 1.

For the past four years, Mr. Mortenson has been industrial relations supervisor with Kaiser Industries at Moss Landing. He has also served as assistant scoutmaster of the Carmel Valley Boy Scout troop. He and his wife and two daughters live on Paso Honda in the Valley.

Scrapbook For Stanford

In 1917, Clayton Elliott of Carmel Hacienda, then a young attorney, organized the Masonic Ambulance Corps of California. Members, all master Masons, came from the San Francisco area. The first training of this unit was taken at Fort Lewis.

Recently, on August 14, a unique scrapbook chronicling the history of the ambulance corps was presented to the Hoover Institute at Stanford University. Mr. and Mrs. Elliott attended the presentation ceremony. The scrapbook contains all copies of The Ambulator, the corps's newspaper, also newspaper clippings, snapshots, diaries, orders, pay books, postcards, miniature posters, insignia and stories of the ambulance corps. This material was assembled by Colonel Wilson Partridge of Los Altos.

West Indies For Hilary

Hilary Teague, daughter of the Donald Teagues, will leave with her father for the West Indies the second week in September. While everybody has fun wherever Hilary is, this journey has a serious objective for her.

Hilary was selected last spring by the president of the new College of the Virgin Islands, on the island of St. Thomas, to be his secretary for the coming school year. She was interviewed while the college president, Lawrence Wanlass, was visiting Stanford University last March. At the moment Mr. Teague plans to go on from the West Indies to Europe.

One of Carmel's favorite little theatre actresses, Hilary told The Pine Cone that there is a splendid little theatre group on the island and naturally she will "join up."

Edwardes' Summer

Carmel High School Principal Warren Edwards and his family have returned after six weeks in the east with glowing reports of their trip.

Mr. Edwards, presented with a Ford Foundation John Hay Fellowship last June, spent the month of July attending seminars and lectures, given by outstanding educators, at Williams College, Williamstown, Massachusetts.

The course included philosophy, the arts, democratic thought and music. An unusual feature was that wives of the 65 fellowship award winners were eligible to attend all lectures and Mrs. Edwards tells us that she took full advantage of the "invitation."

The John Hay Fellowship Summer Conference was originated by Dr. Charles Keller, who resigned his post of many years as professor of history at Williams College, last spring, to organize the summer series of lectures and seminars in four colleges across the country. Dr. Keller will visit the Monterey Peninsula in the late autumn.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, with their three children, Bill, Peggy and Bruce, drove across country going east via the transcontinental highway of Canada, camping along the way and enjoying many side trips. They returned through the northern United States, making sight-seeing stops at Niagara Falls, Yellowstone Park and Yosemite. "We loved the New England countryside and the great plains," Mrs. Edwards said, "but most of all, the entire family was awed and thrilled by the magnificent Rocky Mountains."

The purpose and theme of the John Hay Fellowship Month was to "Recharge Batteries of leaders responsible for the education of youth," and Warren Edwards states, "It did just that—magnificently."

Nostalgia For Scotland

"It started all over again on Sunday when we saw the Highlanders flinging their kilts about in the Forest Theater . . . that wee bit of homesickness for Scotland," Mrs. James Alcorn says.

The Alcorns have just returned from a visit to their homeland. Leaving Carmel in June, their first stop was Montreal for a visit with their son and daughter-in-law, the James Alcorns, Jr., and their two grandsons, Ted and David; and Mr. Alcorn's sisters, who are also residents of Montreal.

Emplaning on July 1, Mr. and Mrs. Alcorn flew to Dundee, Scotland, where they visited members of their families (many sisters and brothers). Going on to London, they found life in the great city gay with flowers and sunshine and they did what all Londoners as well as visitors do — saw the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace, shopped along Regent Street, and ate steak and kidney pudding in Fleet street, just as one Mr. Dickens did.

Flying back to New York in late July, the Alcorns remained on the east coast for just four days before flying on to Los Angeles to visit their daughter. They reached Carmel and home in plenty of time for the Forest Theater performance by the Stuart Highlanders. "We are no different from any other born Scots," Mrs. Alcorn remarked. "All Highlanders get homesick sometimes. But we've finally decided that for us, Carmel is home now, and Scotland a wonderful country . . . for visiting."

"Candy Strippers" Feted

With the summer session of service ending next week for the Community Hospital Auxiliary, "Candy Strippers," 46 high school girls, all volunteers for hospital duty from all parts of Monterey Peninsula, have received invitations for two special events.

On Wednesday Dr. Robert L. Black, medical coordinator of the Monterey Peninsula Lyceum, formerly known as the Association for Gifted Students, Inc., will address the group on "Medicine and the Modern Hospital." During the past spring the "Candy Strippers" met at the hospital for five different seminars in medicine. The selected high school students were given opportunity to gain information in medical and biological sciences, and a chance to discuss the topics presented with practicing physicians.

Following Dr. Black's address it is planned to tour the hospital's laboratory, with Dr. Osman H. Hull assisting. The program will start at 12:30 noon.

On September 5, all "Candy Strippers" will be guests at a buffet luncheon in the hospital conference room, with the hospital's administrator, Thomas E. Tonkin, their host. The "Candy Stripper" awards for outstanding service will be presented by Mrs. William Byrnes, Community Hospital Auxiliary president. Surprise entertainment will follow.

To Live in Apts

Married in the Sacred Heart of Jesus Church in Milford, Massachusetts, on August 9, were Cynthia Jean Calarese, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Calarese of Milford, and Rodney Pierce Phillips, the son of Mrs. John W. Morse of Carmel.

A graduate of Framingham (Mass.) State College where she was awarded her bachelor of science degree, Mrs. Morse was a teacher in Seaside public school last year.

Rodney attended Lassen College and the Colorado School of Trades.

The young couple will make their home in Aptos.

"Happy Birthday!" Col. Mack

With the invitation list now numbering 85, and growing daily, a luncheon-reception is planned for Colonel Harold Mack, to celebrate his 80th birthday on Sunday. The party is being given by his son and daughter-in-law, Richard and Lynn Mack.

The guest traveling the farthest to congratulate the guest of honor will be Carleton W. Pollard of Auckland, New Zealand. The John Madisons are expected from Rising River. Dan Volkman and Robert Watt Miller will come down from Burlingame. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hitchcock will drive down from their Santa Rosa ranch where they are spending the summer and the Mitchell Madisons and Gordon Tevis will travel from San Francisco. And, of course the James Skinners (Patty Skinner is the Macks' daughter) will come from Kentfield, planning to arrive early and stay late.

The first course of the luncheon will be served around the swimming pool of the Richard Mack home, Dolores and Franciscan Way. From the poolside the guests will adjourn to the dining room and patio to be seated for the following courses.

Colonel and Mrs. Mack, who will soon celebrate their 43rd wedding anniversary, came to the Peninsula shortly after their marriage and lived for 29 years in Monterey. Shortly after World War II (the Colonel served in the U.S. Army in both world wars), the Macks sold their home to the Dominican Order and it is now the Santa Catalina School for Girls.

They then came to make their home in Carmel at Carmelo and Thirteenth.

Wed in Santa Barbara

A letter from Santa Barbara brought news that will be of interest to old-time Carmelites.

Enclosed was a headline story, printed in the Santa Barbara News Press, about the marriage of Mrs. Josephine Guyot Bacon, well known Santa Barbara dance instructor, to Jose Manero.

Jose, who lived here during the years of World War II was an entertainer of outstanding popularity in the Carmel U.S.O. A dancer of international reputation, he answered the call of Ruth and the late Jim Cooke, who headed the war effort here, to "keep the Fort Ord boys entertained."

Son of Reynaldo and Ester Manero of Mexico City, his Mexican and Spanish dances won high critical praise across this country and in Europe.

During the past ten years Jose has been teaching in Santa Barbara where his annual shows during the Santa Barbara Fiesta are featured entertainment.

Back From "Gordo" Land

Cartoonist Gus Arriola, his wife, Frances, and their son, Carlin, have just returned from seven weeks of adventure and exploration in the far and little known parts of Mexico. Making Mexico City their base, the Arriolas, with individual objectives, flew to Oaxaca where they spent 15 days visiting Indian villages. Gus made dozens and dozens of sketches and took hundreds of pictures for future reference. His nationally syndicated cartoon strip is "Gordo." Mrs. Arriola visited the homes and work studios of native craftsmen, painters, weavers, sculptors and potters, ordering unique "finds" for her fascinating shop here.

The Arriolas found that the natives were living just as they had for centuries. Modern housing and short cuts to housekeeping were completely unknown. In each village, a totally different language was spoken. Friendly to the visitors, the Indians seemed completely satisfied with their way of life.

Going on to Guadalajara, the Dale W. Hirt of Salinas (above), Governor of District 522 of Rotary International, will visit the local Rotary club, one of the 42 clubs in his district, on September 2. In addition to addressing Carmel Rotarians at their meeting, he will confer with Steven Sassoon, president of the Carmel Rotary Club, and other club officers on Rotary administrative matters and service activities.

travelers found themselves back in 20th century modes, manner and menus.

In San Miguel de Allende the Arriolas visited friends before going on to Mexico City where they emplaned for their return to Carmel.

O.E.S. Officers Honored

Mrs. Clifford H. Cook, Worthy Matron, presided at the Carmel Chapter 581 O.E.S. Advance Night Meeting held last evening in Masonic Hall.

Incoming officers for 1965 honored were Mrs. Paul Tekawa, Worthy Matron; Norman C. Winslow, Associate Matron; and Mrs. Thomas Byers, Conductress. Mrs. Cook, in charge of theme decorations, was assisted by Mrs. Flo Holm and Mrs. Dorothy Olson. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Nissen were in charge of the banquet room.

Mrs. Cook and her committee used dogwood, the emblematic Ellen's (Aladdin's) Lamp, intertwined hearts with lilies of the valley and musical notes, in pale green, blue and pink, to dramatize the themes of the incoming officers.

Mrs. John Craven was in charge of entertainment.

New Yorker Writer

Kevin Wallace has been revisiting the scenes of his childhood with his daughter, Deirdre, and son, Brian, while the guest of his mother, Mrs. Grant Wallace, who is now living in Carmel Valley. Kevin, who grew up in Carmel, is a member of the editorial staff of the New Yorker magazine and lives in the East. He is the brother of Mrs. Guthrie Courvoisier of Monterey.

Mrs. Wallace and her husband were among the group of persons who came here to live after the San Francisco earthquake.

SMITHS' VISIT CARMEL

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Smith of Medina, Ohio, have been visiting their son, Dean, for the past week. Dean, who will enter his sophomore year at Monterey Peninsula College in September, is employed by The Pine Cone and plans to make journalism his career. He came to Carmel a year ago from Ohio.

The senior Smiths' visit in California was not entirely happy. From Carmel they went on to Monrovia where their eldest son, David, died last March, the result of accidental asphyxiation caused by an unvented gas heater. On the day of David's death another brother, Allan, arrived home from Okinawa where he had served in the U.S. Army for two years.

With Mr. and Mrs. Smith for their Carmel visit was their youngest son, Gary, who will return to Ohio with his parents.

Grandchild For Champes

A baby girl, named Traci, was born on August 19 to Mr. and Mrs. William Talbot in Panquitch, Utah. Her mother is the former Leslie Champe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Champe of Carmel. Mrs. Champe went to Utah to greet her new grandchild.

Traci's father is working this summer in Dixie National Forest with the U.S. Forest Service. He will soon take his family back to Provo, Utah, where he is a student at Brigham Young University.

Subcommittee Has Five Proposals For Cultural Center

maintenance and management of the center.

Plan II would add the cost of new buildings to the above, possibly constructed by private organizations. Plan III would require cost of only immediate repairs to the auditorium plus necessary repairs to other areas in the buildings. Plan IV would require $25,000 for demolition, plus costs of repairing auditorium and building new units, possibly by private groups. Plan V would mean $25,000 for demolition and $1,900,000 to rebuild.

Included in ways to finance the plans are (a) forming an assessment district; (b) issue of general obligation bonds; (c) sale of city property amounting to $310,000.

Variations on these are suggested for Plan II and IV. These would be the cost of new buildings to be financed by groups interested in having premises in the center on land leased from the city.

Plan V suggests all cost of financing a center be undertaken by a non-profit organization.

Cost of maintenance of the center in Plan I and II it is suggested could be covered by city taxes, parking revenue of $11,000 per month and $55 per night; office, room and auditorium rentals; library lease; maintaining library according to the "Richmond" plan; assessment district tax revenue.

The "Richmond" plan provides means whereby the city would own and maintain a cultural center, pay personnel from a city fund; but cost of equipment, supplies, exhibits and program would be carried by a private organization.

Comments on the five plans are as follows: Plan I would entail continuing maintenance costs for the old buildings. Rentals would have to be non-commercial groups and this revenue might not cover maintenance costs.

Plan II would present the difficulty of organizations being able to raise money separately and possible architectural compatibility would probably result in a "hodge-podge."

In keeping the present buildings and replacing them in five years (Plan III), parking would be at a minimum and bring in little income, although there would be no expenditure for a facility; also the library and municipal offices, if situated on the site, would have to be moved during replacement; other occupants would have to move, too; lastly, the fact that "temporary often becomes permanent."

Plan IV could result in organizations only being willing to pay the city $1.00 per year rent for the land on which they built premises; these same organizations wanting parking revenue; difficulty and confusion resulting from separate fund campaigns; the difficulty or achieving architectural compatibility.

Plan V would probably not allow city offices on the center site if accomplished either by an assessment district or a non-profit organization.

However, if done by the organization, the city would incur no financial obligation beyond the purchase price of the center site; also there would be no fund-raising conflicts. The city, also, could require that all buildings revert to it in 20 to 30 years and the city then would have a $2 million cultural center at no cost beyond the $575,000 already approved.

Lastly, if the city itself wished to demolish all the buildings and build new ones on the Sunset site, it could have city offices in the new complex and pay for the development by issuing sufficient bonds to cover all construction costs, which it

Back From New Zealand Kurt von Meier To Teach At Princeton University

Kurt von Meier, with his charming wife Hildegard, back in Carmel for a flying visit with his mother, Mrs. Julian von Meier, is besieged on all sides by old friends, eager to hear the latest news of his adventures in education.

Kurt completely dispels the popular old theory that a professor's life is a stuffy one!

Just a dozen years ago Kurt, as widely known for teen-age mischief as for his brilliance as a scholar, graduated from Carmel High School. He spent the next year studying at Monterey Peninsula College, and the following year at the University of California, Berkeley. Then came two years service in the U.S. Navy.

Out of the Navy, Kurt returned to U.C. to be awarded his bachelor of arts degree.

Almost the moment he doffed his cap and gown, thoroughly convinced that teaching art history and appreciation was his future, Kurt sailed for Spain, for one year of graduate work at the University of Madrid and travel. It was in Berlin that he met and married Hildegard Klauber, who was a student at the Freie University in Berlin.

Kurt returned to Princeton for additional graduate study in art history in 1959. In the summer of 1961 a whim (he believes in whims) took him to Stanford University, to study, of all things, Japanese!

Graduate work at Princeton ended in 1962—also Kurt's ten years of higher education, much of it accomplished on scholarships and grants.

Possessed of M.A. and B.A. degrees, the young man from Carmel doesn't have to look about for a teaching post.

He was offered and accepted a senior lectureship at the University of Auckland in New Zealand three years ago. The university had several attractions for Kurt. It was "young"; the art history course was a brand new one—his to create—and the rugby team was world famous. (He won his rugby letter at Cal.)

Professor and Mrs. Kurt von Meier sailed for "down under."

The years of teaching in New Zealand were, Kurt says, overwhelming in their rewards.

"It was really a frontier job and I was the lone pioneer. I created my lecture course—with a non-existent library! During could do by law. A tax to maintain the new development after it was built, would also be required.

The report states that, according to the city's financial advisors, Carmel can increase its bonded indebtedness by general obligation bonds amounting to $2,355,000; increase taxes by 60 cents; and tax for public improvements an additional 50 cents.

my years there, I had the joy of filling the shelves with reference books. Color slides as visual aids in my courses were essential. There were none when I arrived; before I left the university there were 10,000, filed and classified by I.B.M. computers. I cannot praise too highly this great American system of classification."

Asked about his New Zealand students, Kurt's enthusiasm spiraled. "Their enthusiasm was boundless," he said. "Their approach to painting is unique, fresh, uninhibited and unfettered. Because New Zealand is a long way from anywhere, the creative artists have actually created their own style. My greatest wish is that we might have a show of their work here in the not-too-distant future."

Professor and Mrs. von Meier leave next week for Princeton University where he will teach courses in the history of modern architecture and the history of American art, also complete work for his Ph.D. degree, in the department of art and archeology.

Kurt also expects to be called upon to lecture on Australian and New Zealand art, of which he has accumulated a large collection, during his years at the University of Auckland.

ton and Elston will be situated behind present buildings at the east end of the junior high campus. The rooms will be used by fifth and sixth graders when Sunset School is turned over by the school district to the city. This addition will have the same outward appearance as the present junior high structures except for minor details. Charcoal-colored concrete will be used for sidewalks around this building instead of asphalt paving. Fixed solid glass panels with a section that can be opened will replace louvers used in the older construction. Estimated cost of the 64,000 square feet addition is $120,000.

New construction on this site is eligible for financing from the $575,000 capital outlay funds received from the sale of Sunset to Carmel.

The resignation of Mrs. Patricia Speetzen Mackintosh was accepted last night. Samuel Husk III was employed to teach English at Carmel High. Arrangements to exempt transfer students to the high school from
